

Ownership of the personal data ref Covid 19 Testing

To enable the COVID-19 testing to be completed at Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability), we need to process personal data, including the sharing of personal data where this is allowed under data protection legislation.

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) is the data controller for the data required for the management of tests, implementing local arrangements in the event of a positive test and collecting details of who has received each test kit.

We will process personal data relating to users, under article 6.1(f) of the UK GDPR – it is necessary in the legitimate interest of the data controller. We will process special category personal data under the provisions of article 9.2(i) of the UK GDPR, and Part 1 of Schedule 1(3) of DPA 2018 where it is in the public interest on Public Health Grounds to ensure we can minimise the spread of COVID in a timely manner and enable us to continue to deliver services as safely and securely as possible.

Ownership of the personal data shared with DHSC

When you do your own testing at home or on the organisations premises, you must report the results online to the Department of Health and Social Care (DHSC) <https://www.gov.uk/report-covid19-result> and also tell Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability)

DHSC is the data controller for the information that you provide to them about you and your test results. For more information about what DHSC does with your data, go to <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-testing-privacy-information>

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) remains the data controller for the data we retain about you for the management of tests and implementing local arrangements in the event of a positive test. You can read the privacy notice on GOV.UK or you can request a copy is sent to you. This will help you understand how your personal data is used prior to taking a test.

Personal data involved

The following personal data is processed by Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) in relation to your test:

- name
- unique code assigned to each individual test and which will become the primary reference number for the tests
- test result

Test kit log

The following personal data is collected from you by the Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) in relation to self-test kits you are provided to use at home:

- first name, last name, telephone number and/or email address of test subject
- details of lot or batch number
- date of issue to user

For this test kit log Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) is acting as a 'processor' for the DHSC, and this information will not be shared with DHSC.

How we store your personal information

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) will maintain the test kit log, which would contain your personal details (outlined above). Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) test kit log will not be shared with DHSC. This information will only be stored securely on locally managed systems with appropriate access controls implemented by Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) and will only be accessible to personnel involved in the management of tests and implementing local arrangements in the event of a positive test.

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) shall not keep the data contained in the test kit log for longer than 12 months from the date on which it is collected.
DHSC will retain information for up to 8 years.

Processing of personal data relating to positive test results

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) will use this information to enact its own COVID isolation and control processes whilst ensuring respect to personal privacy in line with our data protection responsibilities.

Processing of personal data relating to negative and void test results

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) will record a negative and void result for the purpose of stock controls of tests and general performance of the testing process.

Data sharing partners

The personal data associated with test results may be shared with:

- DHSC and Public Health England – to ensure that they can undertake the necessary Test and Trace activities and to conduct research and compile statistical information about coronavirus
- local government to undertake local public health duties and to record and analyse local spreads

A full list of recipients is available in <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/coronavirus-covid-19-testing-privacy-information/testing-for-coronavirus-privacy-information--2>

Parkside (Aldershot & District Learning Disability) will not share its internal COVID-19 results register with the DHSC.
